WESTERLY

The Washington county superior court convened at Westbury, Tuesday. Judge Biddgett announced that Judge Barrows was engaged in a case at East Greenwich that would probably occupy several weeks, that the statutes require a session of the court at Woonsocket at this time, and that therefore he must open court there on Wednesday. It was probable that he might be able to return to Westbury next Monday and the spare jurors were excused until that day.

Through attorney J. J. Sisson was brought by Everett Fitzgerald, of Westbury, for deferred sentence and that he be released from the state workhouse. The plea was granted and a bond of $500 furnished. Assistant Attorney General Sisson made no objection. He told the court that Fitzgerald had been arrested for intoxication and placed on probation, that he violated the probation. Last December he was rearrested, pleaded not guilty to the charge of being a common drunkard and was sentenced to serve a year in the state workhouse. Attorney Sisson said Mr. Fitzgerald was a machinist by trade and could get a job in Westbury his home town, and probably profit by the punishment he had already endured. Counsel for Mr. Fitzgerald told the court that his client was not of the type of men who are classed as common drunkards, but at periods he had overindulged in intoxicants. He said Mr. Fitzgerald had been employed a great many years at the Cottrell plant and believed would be given employment there as a completely reformed man from the use of intoxicants. This experience has been a lesson that will prove beneficial. He asked for deferred sentence, and declared the required bond would be furnished forthwith.

Arguments were made in the case of Bessie Netherwood, an appeal from the Westbury probate court in admitting to probate a document declared to be the last will and testament of Mary J. Crandall. This case was tried in the court last week, and was for a long time pending in the probate court. Upon the death of Mrs. Crandall, a will dated May 3, 1912 was found among her effects at her late home in Pleasant street. This will was type-written and duly executed and Mrs. Netherwood, whose husband, now deceased, was a brother of Mrs. Crandall, applied to the probate court for letters of administration. Action was delayed and when Mrs. Netherwood returned to her home in White Plains, N. J., she wrote for and received a copy of this will. Her husband was mentioned as residuary legatee under the will, but by reason of his death this was impossible, and Mrs. Netherwood was not a beneficiary. At a subsequent session of the probate court, Mrs. Netherwood filed another will for probate in which she was named as principal beneficiary. This will was dated December 18, 1912, was claimed to be the last will and testament, and Mrs. Netherwood said she found it in a bureau drawer at her home in New Jersey.

There were several hearings on both wills before the probate court, and Attorney Samuel H. Davis, representing some of the heirs declared the second will to be a forgery. The result of the hearings was that Judge Edward M. Burke, admitted the will of 1912 as the last will and testament of Mary J. Crandall, practically agreeing that the second will was a forgery, as alleged by Attorney Davis. Mrs. Netherwood then directed her counsel to take an appeal from the decision of the probate court. The case was known in the superior court docket as Bessie Netherwood appellant against Samuel H. Davis, appellee. The attorneys in the case were Judge Herbert W. Rathbun and John J. Dunn, for appellant, and B. Agard, Clarence E. Roche and Samuel H. Davis for appellee. The arguments were made by Messrs. Roche, Agard and Rathbun. In both wills a bequest of $500 is made to Christ Episcopal church.

Subsequent to the date of the second will another will executed by Mrs. B. Pendleton and believed to have been really the last will and testament was probably destroyed, as the document cannot be found.

After deliberating for half an hour the jury rendered verdict for the appellee, sustaining the judgment of the probate court, reporting that the document dated May 3, 1912, is the last will and testament of Mary J. Crandall; and the document dated December 18, 1912, is not the last will and testament of Mary J. Crandall.

The court adjourned at 4.35.

Westerly is willing and ready to contribute its allotment of $2,000 to the state quota of $25,000 of the country-wide campaign for the Salvation Army. The drive opens next Monday and will continue for one week and it is planned to make up the local quota in small sums by the genuine popular contribution. It is planned to create an annual fund, which will permit of the removal of the tambourine from collection, as well as the soliciting for funds by the army officers, except at the regular meetings. In France the Salvation Army pitched its tents close to the blood-stained battle fields, and at home close to the trenches of vice, crime, poverty and hopelessness.

Steamer New Shoreham, now being refitted, will operate on the South, New London and Block Island, under the direction of Boston parties. Daniel Webster, of Wickford, evidently lacks the judgment of the famous man of that name long since deceased. This is the story of a recent close call from serious and perhaps fatal injury. He is driver of a public service automobile and had just left a passenger at Wickford, to the station.

He started to drive across the railroad track when his automobile was struck by the locomotive of a train that was slowly approaching the station. The automobile was dragged for a distance of fifty feet and was considerably damaged. Webster was somewhat dazed but escaped injury.

Overheated woodwork in the kitchen caused a fire Monday afternoon in the Rhode Island Johnny cake club at Kingston. The fire was extinguished by the state college fire department before much damage resulted. The club is patronized by the faculty of the state college.

William Barnes of White Rock, arrested in Westbury for being intoxicated, pleaded guilty to the charge when arraigned before Judge Williams in the Third district court Tuesday. He said he mixed Jamaica ginger with water, drank it and became drunk. He was fined $3 and costs of $2.50. William Holland played basketball with a team of $2 and costs of $2.50 were imposed and paid.

An automobile was stolen early Monday evening from in front of the store, the property of Fred S. O'Neil, and up to this writing has not been located. Just as soon as the case was reported to the police, Chief Brown in another automobile started on a search, but without satisfactory result. A girl employe of the store saw a man crank the machine and drive away and the police have a good description of the chap. The engine of the stolen Henry became stalled when in Elm street and at that time there were three men with the stolen outfit.

The committee of arrangements for the celebration of the 250th anniversary of the incorporation of the town of Westbury has decided upon a tentative plan for observance. The celebration will be of four days' duration—Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, preceded by services in the churches Sunday, June 23, and with exercises in the town hall Monday and Tuesday as a marker for the opening of the celebration. Wednesday will be devoted in the main to reunions at the Westbury High school. Thursday will be soldiers' homecoming day and include a big street parade. Friday will be historical and merchants' day and will embrace an historical pageant similar to that held in Stonington Saturday to the assignment of judges. # MILEAGE

The motor runs far and true on a filling of So-CO-ny Gasoline. The force of every drop goes into mileage. No delayed starts nor tardy pick-ups, no clogged carburetors, no carbon-sapped power with So-CO-ny. It burns clean—vaporizes readily any season—requires just one carburetor adjustment.

Now or a month from now—here or hundreds of miles from here—it's the same.

Inferior, inert mixtures shorten engine life. Think twice before you buy them. Choose So-CO-ny. At the So-CO-ny Sign.

DON'T BUY ASPIRIN IN A "PILL" BOX

Ask for "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" in a Bayer package—marked with "Bayer Cross."

You must say "Bayer." Never ask for merely Aspirin tablets. The name "Bayer" means you are getting the genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin," proven safe by millions of people.

Don't buy Aspirin tablets in a pill box. Insist on getting the Bayer package with the safety "Bayer Cross" on both package and on tablets. No other way!

Beware of counterfeit! Only recently a Brooklyn manufacturer was sent to the penitentiary for flooding the country with talcum powder tablets, which he claimed to be Aspirin.

In the Bayer package are proper directions and the dose for Headache, Toothache, Earache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, Colds, Grippe, Influenza-Colds, Neuritis and pain generally.

"Bayer Tablets of Aspirin," American made and owned, are sold in vest-pocket boxes of 12 tablets, which cost only a few cents, also in bottles of 24 and bottles of 100—also capsules.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer. Manufacture of Monocetate of Salicylic acid.
